

Daryl Dance

Dr. Daryl C. Dance is Professor Emerita of English at the University of Richmond. Dr. Dance has given more than 200 lectures at universities; over 150 lectures and presentations to community organizations, libraries, prisons, and churches; presented numerous book readings around the United States; and conducted an array of radio and television interviews.

Dr. Dance has authored and contributed to numerous publications, and her article and book reviews appear in several journals to include the College Language Association Journal, the Negro American Literature Forum and the African American Review.

Dr. Dance has served on several major committees, boards, review panels and professional organizations to include the Modern Language Association, the Editorial Board of Encyclopedia Virginia and eleven National Endowment for the Humanities (NEH) review panels.

Dr. Dance received her undergraduate and master's degree in English from Virginia State College (now University), and her doctorate from the University of Richmond with additional study at the University of Virginia and Columbia University.

Dr. Dance was appointed to the Virginia State University Board of Visitors in December of 2012.