This original VSU logo will remain in all of its current uses. There is no need to dispose of items bearing this original logo. This logo can be used alone on any document or item.

Original VSU Logo with our new brand - Design #2

As we brand VSU, going forward, we will use this slightly adjusted logo which includes our founding year of 1882. This logo should be used when it is not necessary or appropriate to use the slogan. This logo can be used alone on any document or item.

VSU Logo with new brand and slogan - Design #3

Greater Happens Here is our new slogan. This design of our new logo with the slogan attached should be used when appropriate and if space and design allows. Use above VSU logo with our new brand (design #2) if space, document or occasion does not warrant use of the slogan.

The Virginia State University name logo establishes a unique identity for VSU among the various “Virginia” schools and highlights the University’s status as a public institution, which is reinforced by the enlarged “S” in VSU.

We have now incorporated our new brand in “Since 1882” that will further establish our unique identity.

The graphic mark incorporates the University’s primary institutional colors:
Blue: PMS 2728
Orange: PMS 158

The two-color version shown here is the primary logo. It should be used when possible on all print and electronic/Web-based materials (such as brochures, color ads, billboards, self-mailers, emails, etc.).

In instances where the logo will be placed over an image, or reversed out over orange or blue, alternate applications of the logo should be used.

As always, if you have any questions regarding application/usage of the VSU logo, please contact the Office of Communications.

Primary Name Logo
The (two color version) full-color logo shown here is the primary logo. Use this logo whenever possible.

Alternate Primary Name Logo
The (one color version) logo shown here is the alternate to the primary logo.
The logo versions shown here should ONLY be used when the primary name logo cannot be applied. Some examples may be for a black-and-white ad or a newsletter being printed in two colors.

The name logo should always be surrounded by clear space. This protected area keeps other images or type from getting too close and ensures that the logo is always readable. The recommended minimum distance to be allowed on all sides is the width of the capital letter “S”, along with “Since 1882” in the logo (see example to the right).

Clear Space
The dotted line represents the protected area. No other image or type should enter within this space.
Using the name logo correctly will maintain consistency for the VSU identity. Shown here are examples of logo misuse.

Do not alter the proportions of the logo.

Do not stretch or compress the logo.

Do not reproduce the logo on a busy background.

Do not rotate the logo.

Do not rearrange logo colors or components.
The VSU University seal should only be used by the Office of the President and the Office of Communications. The use of the University seal will be reserved for official University awards and recognition, diplomas, stationery, and official University communications as approved by the president and directed by the Office of Communications.

The University seal and the University name logo should never be used together or altered inappropriately. The vast majority of VSU communications (print, web or any other media,) should use the VSU name logo, not the University seal.

For more information on the use of the University seal or to request artwork files, please contact the Office of Communications.

The graphic seal incorporates the University’s secondary institutional colors: Blue: PMS 287 Orange: PMS 166.

PRIMARY blue
(PANTONE 2728) and orange (PANTONE 158)

Social media is a powerful communication vehicle used to develop and strengthen relationships with prospective students, current students, faculty, staff, alumni, donors, corporations, donors, peers, etc. The university’s goal of posting on social media platforms is to foster a virtual Virginia State University for our various audiences.

Social media allows the university to share university news and accomplishments, keep VSU at the top of mind of our audiences, and support and enable recruiting, retention, and alumni relations.

Violation of the university social media policy

There is one official policy regarding social networking sites, and that is to exercise freedom of speech with responsibility. If activity on any social media platform is reported as violating the university social media policy, it will be investigated and handled by the Office of Communications, the Department of Public Safety and the University Legal Office.

Colleges and departmental social media pages must have a minimum of two administrators (site managers) assigned. If an administrator leaves the university, they will be removed as a page administrator and another person assigned in their place. It is recommended that administrators for official university social media pages should check their pages a minimum of three times a day during the normal workweek. Outdated sites and information can reflect poorly on the group as well as the university as a whole.

The Office of Communications will maintain a master list of all university login information for all social media platforms which represent the University.

For more information regarding social media support and/or for a copy of the University social media policy, please contact the Office of Communications.
